Bryston At KL Audio Show in Malaysia

Now, the excitement from the first listening session on Friday was not enough. I really need to experience the whole home cinema she-bang for a longer period and also with proper high quality demo disc. So, I made a point to have James Tan show me what this whole set up can really do.

Annnndddd show me he did....It was relatively effortless for the Bryston speakers to deliver complex sound with such detail and crispness....with the right amount of low end reproduction. Have a look and listen at the sample below. The drums video.. I can even hear the wires beneath the snare vibrating and also the kick drums sounded really controlled and sharp. The dispersion of high freq notes from the ride and crash cymbals was very precise and detail plus it did not produce an ear hurting high pitch noise.

Now, I really would want to make my dream of having a projector and screen set up a reality...but the Bryston speakers just keep on calling me to test them with my MF set up. Will it replace my ProAc D18? Maybe
