"The Bryston BDP-2 is the best kept secret in high end audio."

"The difference is ABSOLUTELY huge.

A component that is purpose built to render audio, especially by an engineering driven company, like Bryston, simply cannot be matched by laptop or desktop computer. Folks using traditional computers are constantly chasing their tails trying to get them to sound good. The amount of noise and other garbage inside a multipurpose computer, even a really good one like a Mac Book Pro, which I am typing this on, is astounding.

The fact that a simple Vbus filter like the Audioquest Jitterbug reportedly improves the sound (see Stereophile review) is proof positive what a compromised environment these devices are. It is amazing to me that simple firmware updates can continuously add more features to the Bryston BDP series, at no additional cost to the owner!

The BDP-2 digital player is a system changing, mind-blowing upgrade. No other digital source component has been this transformative in my audio system."
