SUBJECT: Bryston BDA-3 DAC Feedback!

Altronics Stereo 2000

SAME LOCATION SINCE 1975

I had some time to put the Bryston BDA-3 through its paces and was very pleased. The midrange was detailed and dynamic with a natural bass presence anyone would enjoy.

The connectivity makes it easy to use many devices with ease and simplicity. I especially like the twin USB inputs that is rarely seen on high performance DAC's.

USB 1 reserved for BDP-2
USB 2 reserved for all my other digital gear.

Great value for exceptional performance. Bravo Bryston.

The BDA-3 blows the BDA-2 out of the game. So much more detail, smoother and well-judged overall balance.

Hi James

I've just upgraded from a BDA-1 to a BDA-3. In my system I've noticed a dramatic sound quality improvement.

I'm genuinely really surprised how much better it sounds. I had sibilance with the BDP-1, and this is almost completely gone. It's not just the high frequencies that you can hear a difference, the mid range and lower frequencies are also much better. Bear in mind that the BDA-1 is not a bad sounding piece of kit, but the BDA-3 makes it look inadequate. I'm very impressed!
